Grammar Exercise 2

Class: 5A Name: _____ () Date: _____

Read the following sentences with the relative pronouns 'which' and 'who'.

1. It is the cake which she made.

'she made' tells you more about the cake

'which' is used for animals and things

2. This is the gentleman who wants to see you.

'who' is used for people

'wants to see you' tells you more about the gentleman

A. Complete the following sentences with 'who' or 'which'.

1. The teacher who we talk to is very kind.
2. It is the bus which broke down outside the market this morning.
3. The toy car which my father gave me when I was three was lost.
4. My mother is the woman who dresses in red.
5. The goldfish which you bought died yesterday.

7. The soldier who fought against the enemies lost his leg.
8. I bought Sam a shirt which was on sale.
9. This is the cake which Mary made.
10. That is the boy who we saw at the station.

B. Join the sentences together with the relative pronoun 'who' or 'which'.

e.g. Jamie works in a big company. It is one of the top 5 companies in Tokyo.

'It' refers to the big company.

The big company is a thing so 'which' is used to join the sentences.

Delete 'It' as both 'It' and 'which' refer to the same thing.

e.g. Jamie works in a big company which is one of the top five companies in Tokyo.
